Baseball Team To Be Organized; Church To Form Adult Choir

By Bernice T. Hiser

Greetings to all my faithful readers. We, Susan and I, with my father, Wilson E. Terry, formerly of Owsley County, now of Logan, Indiana, came home last Thursday with my sister, Mrs. Audrey Allen, Le-tanon, Ohio.

Since returning, we have visited my cousins, Mrs. Tina Smith, Booneville; and Sid Gabbard and Peter Turner, Cow Creek. My father learned that his brother, Herd McIntosh, Combs, whom he had heard died several years ago, is still alive. Mr. Terry is 91 and his brother, Herd is 80.

We found that Squabble has sadly changed. Our next door neighbors, Douglas and Vesta Gabbard, formerly Perry teachers, have moved to Warren, Ohio, and are living on Peak Lake. Vesta is a retired teacher, while Douglas has a leave of absence. Their daughter, Jeanette Elizabeth and husband, Al Lawrence, a doctor, live in Warren. Their son, Douglas Ray, graduated from Warren G. Harding High School June 10.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the family of the late Mrs. Joan Cornett Hampton, wish to express our deep gratitude for the many kindnesses extended to us in our bereavement. Words alone are not enough to tell you how appreciative we are for every floral tribute, dish of food, word of sympathy or thought. We are still during these trying days. Also, many of you were kind enough to remember our Joan's little infant daughter, Kelly "Rea" Hampton, with many useful gifts for her baby days. For this thoughtfulness too, we are most grateful. We consider each act of kindness a fitting memorial of our Joan, who made every acquaintance a friend on this earth. We'll always treasure your kind thoughts and deeds. Sincerely, Mark Hampton Mrs. Agnes Cornett and family E:6:14-p.

Total-Electric... Everybody benefits

Low-cost electricity is the ambition of every progressive electric utility company. As customers use more electricity new advanced more efficient power producing facilities can be built—and such facilities help make possible lower electric rates. It is this cycle of low rates that leads to greater use, to greater efficiency and to still lower rates.

We have just announced another series of rate reductions of more than $216,700. Such reductions over the past three years have meant savings to our customers of over $497,200.

TOTAL-ELECTRIC SCHOOLS ARE THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN ANY COMMUNITY'S EDUCATIONAL BUDGET

Of special significance in our latest rate reductions is one cent per kilowatt-hour electricity for Total-Electric public and parochial schools. We are especially proud of this low rate because it helps offset the increasing costs faced by schools today. School administrators are now finding that Total-Electric schools cost less to build, to finance, to maintain, to expand and to operate. These advantages mean that those who foot the educational bills—including all taxpayers—get more for their money.

OUR POLICY IS TO REDUCE RATES WHENEVER POSSIBLE

We believe our policy of reducing rates—and of holding the line on costs—has a strong economic impact on the area we serve. It stimulates growth, helps provide jobs for people and contributes to raising the standard of living. We are dedicated to the objective of providing superior electric service at the lowest possible cost. This dedication has made the American Electric Power System, of which Kentucky Power Company is a part, the largest investor-owned electric power producer in the United States.

Head Starters At Play

Commissioner Ward To Give Report Here Monday, July 5th

State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward will make a report on sectional and state developments when the Kentucky Better Roads Council holds a regional meeting at 6:30 p.m., Monday, July 5, at the V.F.W. Club, Hazard.

Announcement was made by Dewey Daniel, Hazard banker and vice president of the non-profit roads organization.

Also present at the meeting will be Gilbert W. Kingsbury, Council executive director.

The Hazard meeting will be the sixth in a series. Earlier sessions have been held at Prestonsburg, Lexington, Covington, Owensboro and Bowling Green. Counties participating are Breathitt, Estill, Lee, Magoffin, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Powell, Perry and Wolfe.

Tickets are on sale at Peoples Bank, Citizens Bank, Don's, Hazard Drug and Fouts Drug Company.

Commissioners Agreed On Lothair Annexation

Because two commissioners and the city manager were absent, Hazard's City Commission did not take final action on an ordinance to annex the Lothair community. But those commissioners present left no doubt that the action will be forthcoming soon, probably July 1, when today's adjourned meeting reconvenes.

Commissioner Dr. M. B. Payne has been gravely ill in a Louisville hospital for several months. City Manager C. C. Colwell is hospitalized in Lexington, and Commissioner Dr. Eli C. Poggis was called away on a case this afternoon, leaving only Mayor Dawahare and Commissioners Feltner and Burnett on hand to transact the city's business.

They made up a quorum and attended to minor affairs, but put off until July 1 further consideration of the Lothair annexation ordinance, as well as a decision on whether or not the city will buy the Hazard Gas Company.

At the urging of the Director of Kentucky's Water Pollution Control Commission, Ralph Pickard, last month, the Commission directed City Attorney Ernest Faulkner to draw up an ordinance for the annexation of Lothair.

At the time, some Commissioners expressed doubts that many people in Lothair would favor becoming a part of Hazard, but today they said that in the past few weeks it had become apparent to them that, in the words of Commissioner Feltner, "at least fifty per cent of the people are for it."

The State has been urging Hazard to annex Lothair for some time now, primarily as a means of providing that community with a sanitary disposal system for its sewage, which now empties into the Kentucky River just upstream from Hazard's water source.

Pickard said the situation "could cause an epidemic to break out at any time."

Feltner said the City Commission was now in full agreement with the annexation question, that the members had come "to a clear understanding that it must be done."

City Gas Company?

Another major question confronting the Commission is whether or not to go into the gas business.

Several weeks ago, officials of the Hazard Gas Company approached the Commissioners, saying the City of Hazard could purchase the company's gas distribution system for $350,000.

On hand at today's meeting were B. F. Reed and Glenn Spradlin, Hazard Gas Company officials, and Thomas P. Dupree, executive vice president of the Dupree and Co. Inc., bonding agency of Lexington and Harlan, to learn the City's response to the offer.

The City's final decision was delayed until today's meeting resumes July 1, because of the absence of the two Commissioners and the City Manager.

Mayor Dawahare indicated that the $350,000 price tag was too high for local citizens to accept. Commissioner Feltner questioned several points in the proposed contract the City was offered at the first meeting.

Mr. Dupree of the bonding company indicated that rewriting the contract and further delay in signing could cause the interest rates on the bond issue that would finance the purchase to increase beyond the present level of slightly over 4 per cent.

If the city does buy the Gas Company, it would be with revenue bonds, which would not involve any obligation on the part of local tax payers.

The City had an opportunity to buy the Gas Company a few years back for about $1,500,000, but that price included the source of the gas as well as the distribution system.

The new, lower price includes a few gas wells but, company officials said, these provide only about seven per cent of the gas consumed locally, and that the deal offered the City is primarily for the distribution system, which extends as far as Emmalena in Knott County, and to Viper in the other direction.

The Commission also approved ordinances today that make it unlawful for a gasoline tank truck, loaded or unloaded, to park within the city limits unless on immediate business, and to make all automobiles within the city limits that do not have breathers on their carburetors subject to a fine up to $50.

These are safety precautions, in line with recommendations made by fire fighting experts, said Commissioner Burnett, who introduced the measures.

Hazard Joins Cities In Observing July 4

In observance of Independence Day, cities throughout the United States have agreed to ring bells in their communities for four minutes beginning at 1 p.m. on July 4, reported Mayor Willie Dawahare today.

Bill Gorman, Dick Cooper and Mayor Dawahare are members of the Hazard Lions Club committee to make a survey of all bells in Hazard and try to get the owners to ring them at this time.

$1.25 Per Hour Youth Corps Jobs Will Be Available July 10

Young people in the Hazard area now have an opportunity for full time summer jobs and part-time school jobs as part of the federally-sponsored Youth Corps which gets started July 10.

So far a total of 83 young men and women have indicated their interest in the program by signing a roster maintained by Mayor Dawahare. Applications are also being received at the State Employment Office on High Street.

The Mayor and representatives of the County government and the Perry County Advisory Council went to Corbin this afternoon to confer with James Greenwald, a Youth Corps official in charge of the Kentucky area.

They expect to learn from him the exact details of the program and make them public upon their return. But tentatively, these are some of the regulations governing the program:

Young people between the ages of 16 and 22 may be hired locally in public-service type jobs at a salary of $1.25 an hour, for 32 hours a week during the summer and 16 hours weekly during the school term. Reportedly, jobs for about 100 youths will be created. Selections will be based largely on need.

With the Mayor on the fact-finding trip to Corbin are PCRC Chairman Robert Radar, County Attorney Calvin Manis, and Percy Combs, who has been active in the County's efforts to get its anti-poverty campaign going.

Ten Coca Cola Workers Vote To Join UMWA District 50

Ten employees of the Hazard Coca Cola Bottling Plant voted unanimously to let District 50 of the United Mine Workers of America represent them in contract talks with the management of the local plant.

The voting took place yesterday.

Within the next ten days the UMW will start contract talks with the local plant owners in hopes of reaching a workable agreement.

According to officials at the plant the employees that voted were the driver salesmen and plant workers.

Perry Circuit Judge Don A. Ward issued a temporary restraining order against the striking employees on May 7 to prevent them from interfering with plant operations.

A bargaining session with the National Labor Relations Board was held on June 2 with the men agreeing to go back to work on the assurance that the election would take place on June 16.

The plant returned to normal operations on June 3 and according to reports things are running smoothly at the present time.

Swimming Pool Planned By PCDA

The Perry County Development Association Tuesday took an option on a parcel of land near Combs to pave the way for perhaps eventually leasing it as the site of a non-profit recreation facility.

The Rev. E. Tipton Carroll, a member of PCDA's Health, Education and Welfare Committee, made the announcement at the organization's regular meeting Monday night.

The Rev. Carroll displayed an engineer's drawing of what the recreation facility might look like and contain, if it materializes into reality.

The main feature will be a public swimming pool, adjacent to areas for tennis, handball, basketball, and a larger area for a standard-size football field and fair grounds.

The land, about six acres, most of it made fairly level by a sizable fill of a valley from nearby excavation projects, is owned by Lewis Hopper of Hazard.

PCDA has already made a preliminary application to the Farmer's Home Administration, a federal agency, for some $200,000, part of it as a cash grant, the rest as a low-interest loan, to finance the new facility.

The Rev. Carroll said possibilities existed for a grant of up to 80 per cent of the costs.

The Rev. Carroll's sub-committee has also been collecting information for another project, which PCDA unanimously endorsed Monday and sent to the Hazard Housing Commission in the form of a recommendation.

The proposal is for construction, in Hazard, of 50 units of housing for the aged. Rev. Carroll said the proposal was the

Anti-Strip Mine Motorcade Goes To Frankfort Tuesday

Over fifty car-loads of Knott, Letcher, Leslie and Perry County citizens are scheduled to journey as a motorcade to Frankfort next Tuesday to keep a two p.m. appointment with Governor Breathitt.

The purpose of the meeting with the Governor is to protest alleged strip-mining damage to private property. Whitesburg attorney Harry M. Caudill arranged the meeting at the request of the newly-formed Appalachian Group To Save Land And People, which met last night at the Carr Creek High School gymnasium.

About 150 people were on hand, including a small delegation from Leslie County, led by Leslie County Judge George Wooton, for the third public meeting in ten days of citizens opposed to strip mining.

Besides making plans for the motorcade, last night's meeting was similar to the previous two, as scheduled speakers and individuals in the audience took turns on the floor to denounce strip mining.

Judge Wooton came from the audience to take his strong personal stand against the system's abuses, pledging Leslie County's support to the movement that began on Lotts Creek in Perry County and Clear Creek in Knott County and now includes Letcher as well.

"I certainly want to join you in this drive," Judge Wooton said. "Let's do what we can to preserve our land. Strip and auger operations in Eastern Kentucky are destroying God's green earth for the future of our people."

At the conclusion of last night's anti-strip mine meeting at Carr Creek, several in the crowd came forward and made donations. At right is Group chairman, Leroy Martin.

The Judge said that coal production by the stripping method could only be justified if this nation's survival in war were at stake, and coal was that desperately needed for national defense.

Judge Wooton was made a co-chairman of the AGSLP. He joins Perry County's Commonwealth Attorney Tolbert Combs and Jenk's City Schools Principal Eldon Davidson as co-chairmen behind Group chairman Leroy Martin of Cordia.

Other statements from individuals who say they have been victims of strip mining operations included one lady from Sassafras Hollow in Knott County who said "I like to lost my mind over it when she saw a bulldozer dig up her deceased infant's grave."

Other speakers included Harry Caudill and Eldon Davidson, both of whom rebutted portions of an article in the Monday Hazard Herald by Fred B. Bullard, President of the Kentucky Coal Association.

Caudill urged the members of the new organization to "push this fight in every county of Eastern Kentucky."

The statement by Bullard that drew the rebuttal from Caudill and Davidson cautioned newspaper readers that "isolated incidents have been exaggerated out of proportion to the point that they are made to appear to be the rule rather than the exception."

His statement went on to challenge the validity of the telephone conversation Matt Holliday of Clear Creek reportedly had with President Johnson regarding the strip mining situation in Knott County.

Bullard's doubt about the phone call was apparently confirmed today by a letter to the Herald from President Johnson's press secretary, George Reedy, in answer to a letter the Herald had sent the President.

Here is the text of the letter:

"The President has asked me to reply to your friendly letter of June 9 and to express his deep interest in ensuring a beautiful America.

"I must inform you, however, that a careful check of the President's telephone log does not disclose any record of a conversation with Mr. Holliday. But, in any event, I am taking the liberty of forwarding a copy of your letter to Secretary Udall. Sincerely, (signed) George E. Reedy, Press Secretary to the President."

The Herald also received a letter from Governor Breathitt in which the Governor asked persons in this area to attend and participate in a three-day symposium on strip mining in Kentucky, which will be held in Lexington June 23-25.

The purpose of the symposium, the Governor said, is to invite the public "to review and discuss the adequacy of the present law and our enforcement activities" with respect to strip mining.

Governor Breathitt sent Robert Montgomery, deputy commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources, to Perry and Knott Counties Tuesday to gather information about the current strip mine controversy.

Women Winners At Wheelwright

A Hazard sextet, playing Wednesday at Wheelwright Country Club in June competition of the East Kentucky Ladies Golf Association, was strictly "on key." The swingin' group brought home almost everything but the clubhouse with their scoring honors.

Making the trip were Gene Ann Carter, Joanie Jane Shackelford, Mrs. Peyton Mitchell, Mrs. Charles C. Rutledge, Mrs. John C. Lewis and Mrs. Joe W. Duncan. They brought home EKLGA's most sought-after trophy, the low gross team cup, as well as individual low gross prize and a lot of lesser honors.

The team cup was won on the fine scores tallied by Carter, Shackelford and Mitchell, all prominent figures in championship golf at the local club. The trio's combined actual was lower than any other threesome representing any of the other four club's in the association.

Temperatures were in the eighties so were the scores. And that's plenty good in golfing. Gene Ann Carter's pace-setting 80 strokes on the 18 hillside holes also gave her the individual low gross score prime for the whole tournament. Another feather in her cap was the winning of "low putts" in the championship flight with 29.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Carter, Gene Ann is the gal who made golfing history at the Hazard Club five years ago by winning the ladies championship at age 17. Now approaching her senior year at the University of Kentucky, where she also excelled in swimming, Gene Ann has been absent from the local links in recent years.

Another top prize was brought back home by Mrs. Mitchell, who won individual low gross honors with an 85. Net scores are figured on actual strokes "sans handicap." The better the player the lower the handicap. Hence, Mitchell had a fine day at Wheelwright.

But these four prizes were not enough to satisfy Hazard's golf-getters. Mrs. Rutledge tied for "low putts" in the second flight with 32 on the greens. Mrs. Lewis, better known as Mary, won herself a neat prize by taking top honors in the third flight. It was a great day for the gals. They won six prizes in as many starts.

Miss Jean McIntosh, president of the Ladies of Hazard Golf Club, said today that she was extremely proud of the showing made by "our fine representation" at Wheelwright. Next month Hazard women will play host to the East Kentucky Ladies Golf Association. The date is July 14, reminded the President.

A member of the Hazard Club, Mrs. John Sheegog, is presently serving as vice president of the EKLGA. She is in line for the presidency next year when Hazard will host the big annual 2-day tournament of the Association.

The Ladies of Hazard Golf Club have two meetings per month, one in the daytime and one at night. Their day meeting is a Ladies Day on the 4th Saturday each month, with a luncheon followed by golf or bridge. The group met Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the clubhouse for a social and business meeting. All women members were urged to attend.

M. C. Napier High School Students Choose Summer Projects From Eight Divisions Including Food And Child Care

The Vocational Home Economics program improves personal, home and family living for M. C. Napier students.

For many years Home Economics has been a career in itself, and the homemaker must be a well informed buyer, nurse, manager, child care expert, home-decorator and counselor. We are trying as best we can to prepare the students to meet these tasks.

Through supervised home projects or experiences, pupils see the relationship of class instruction to real home-making activities. Home projects supplement class instruction and provide another means of reaching the goals of the home-making program.
